

Galleries and ateliers

Deià is famously where the artists, literaries and bohemians go to get away. Accordingly, the village is filled with small, independent galleries and ateliers (<http://suitcasemag.com/travel/explore/portos-best-galleries/>), though bigger establishments like Hotel La Residencia (<https://www.booking.com/hotel/es/laresidencia.en-gb.html?aid=1618504>) often host exhibitions, too. Meander from the main street, around the winding road that leads up to the church at Deià's peak and, en route, you'll stumble across these largely unannounced art spaces. Pottery, paintings and vases are commonly found alongside jewellery in bright hues of gold and turquoise. Ceramica Joanna, located on Es Porxo, is the best of the lot. Inside the tiny atelier, you'll find Joanna, or one of her makers, painting lemons, oranges, olives or figs onto large dishes, bowls and jugs. Each piece celebrates the vibrant fruits that are local specialties; a welcome injection of colour into your home. The team will also make sure your buy is packed well enough to take survive in your hand luggage.
